Of interest to all club minded women of Arcadia is the announcement of the Woman's Club membership tea being arranged by Mrs. Raymond Kennett and the women of her membership committee for the afternoon of Wednesday, Sept. 27, from 2 to 4 o'clock, in the clubhouse on South First avenue. This pre-club semi-formal social event will bring together all former members whose applications have been passed upon during the summer. Other women of the city who would like to join are asked to apply to the committee before the tea date so that they may be included.

The clubhouse has been reconditioned, furnishings returned from storage and all will be in readiness for the new club year which starts officially Wednesday, Oct. 4.

Receiving with Mrs. Kennett, chairman, and Mrs. Russell, president-elect of the club will be Mesdames C. F. Ganther, W. R. Dresler, R. E. Rubottom, George Hart, and C. D. Messinger. Also the executive board members, Mesdames John P. Ross, L. L. Casper, Ray Allen Woung, Edgar Reed, E. J. Frentress, Earl Dettra, A. F. Barnard, George Leitz, and Ernest Leeper.

Decorations will be arranged by Mrs. Charles Van Ausdol and her committee. Incidental music will be played during the afternoon and full opportunity afforded the women of renewing acquaintances and meeting new members and guests and enter more fully into the friendly atmosphere of the club at the very beginning of the club year.

Now that the strain of war conditions has somewhat eased and the clubhouse restored to the full use of members after serving the U. S. O. for more than two years, women of the community are invited to join enthusiastically in the social, cultural, and civic activities offered by the Woman's Club of Arcadia.

Woman's Club To Meet Wednesday, October 4, To Open Coming Year

October heralds the renewal of numerous Arcadia Woman's Club activities, following the summer interim, which was filled with war work, fruit canning, and brief vacations for members.

The clubhouse takes on a more familiar atmosphere with the furnishings replaced in the reconditioned interior. For over two years it has been turned over to the use of the men in the service while Camp Santa Anita functioned, and many club women assisted with the U.S.O. service during that time.

Duration Meetings

The usual luncheons will precede the meetings. However, for the duration, the regular meetings will be held on the first Wednesday of the month only, leaving the third Wednesday open for club benefits and social affairs that are being planned by Mrs. K. B. Leslie.

Luncheon reservations must be made with Mrs. A. E. Bruben on the Monday before club day. Mrs. Harry Russell, club president will introduce the members of her board and the club's past presidents, all of whom will be seated at her table at the Oct. 4 meeting.

Bible Department

A Bible department will be introduced this year with Mrs. Clarke Breeze directing its monthly study. Mrs. Eugene Harpole will conduct a literature section which is another recent addition to club life. A drama section may develop if the women of the club so desire, according to Mrs. Russell.

Civic representatives, service clubs, church organizations and other representative groups will be special guests of the club during the year. Mrs. E. J. Frentress has arranged some attractive programs for the regular meetings.

The club treasurer, Mrs. Edgar Reid, will receive the annual dues at the Wednesday meeting, and give the year books to all paid members. The club year promises to be one of interest and service under the capable leadership of the new president, Mrs. Harry Russell.

Mrs. Harry W. Russell to Preside Over Opening Meeting of Arcadia Woman's Club On October 4

FORMER GRAND MATRON OF IOWA OES TO HEAD LOCAL ORGANIZATION

Mrs. Harry W. Russell will preside at the opening luncheon and meeting of the Arcadia Woman's Club season, Wednesday, Oct. 4, in the clubhouse. She brings to the Arcadia club the benefit of her wide experiences in the work of women's organizations in her home town of Winfield, Iowa, before coming to Arcadia less than four years ago.

Climaxing those activities was the honor of serving as worthy grand matron of the Grand Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star of the state of Iowa in October, 1940. Mrs. Russell expected to take life more leisurely when she and Mr. Russell arrived in Arcadia, but war work and church needs sought her aid with the result that both she and her husband were soon associated with many civic activities. They like Arcadia and the people so well they have forgotten their plans for returning to Iowa.

Mrs. Russell served as vice president of the Woman's Club last year and was enthusiastically chosen by the club members to serve as president this coming year, succeeding Mrs. Wood Glover, who carried on as president during two trying years of wartime.

At all times Mrs. Russell has given her home and family the first place in her devotions and concern and believes that to be the first duty of every woman.

She says, "Now that we in America are facing the problems of world peace, let the American clubwoman foster the ideals that make for peace in the home and the community. If we desire and expect this peace, we must begin with ourselves and work from there, cherishing the highest ideals in our homes and carrying these high aims into the daily walks of life, thereby producing a lasting, peaceful way of life so much desired by the people of all countries."

ALICE MCINTIRE

Monodramatist To Appear First

Members of the Arcadia Woman's Club will gather together for the first time in the club year on Wednesday, Oct. 4. A full calander has been prepared by the incoming president, Mrs. Harry Russell and her board. Outstanding artists have been selected by the program committee who have attended auditions purposely to secure the most suitable and interesting entertainers possible.

Alice McIntire, whose vivid character portrayals sparkle with humor and human interest, will feature the first of the year's programs. The versatile young monodramatist has a repertoire that is delightfully varied and entertaining and should give an excellent beginning to the first meeting.

Luncheon reservations must be made with Mrs. A. E. Gruben on the Monday before club day. Number of the clubhouse is Atwater 7-9004.

Arcadia Woman's Club Conducts Tea For New and Prospective Members

Mrs. Harry Russell, club president, Mrs. Raymond Kennett, membership chairman, with the executive board, and the membership committee, were the hostesses.

In the social room the lace-covered tea table arrangement was attractive with a center of pastel roses completed with tall white candles and silver service.

Hostesses

Pouring during the afternoon were Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Kennett, Mrs. C. F. Ganther and Mrs. John Ross. Others assisting in the tea serving were Mrs. John Renshaw, Mrs. Floyd Kingsley, Mrs. Kenneth Leslie, and Mrs. Riess.

Beautiful arrangements of varicolored asters adorning the assembly rooms were placed by Mrs. Charles Van Ausdol and Mrs. Jack Scherz.

Introduced

New members, whose applications for membership had been approved, were introduced by Mrs. Russell and included Mes. Henry Huneke, C. S. Clevenger, R. H. Schwarzkopf, Charles Bennett, Charles Johnson, Roger Miller, Clarence Johns, Chalmer Stewart, Jesse Balser, Walter Harpin, Margaret Paisley Brown, Robert Dow, George Kams, Richard Hilf, and Bill Russell. Other membership applications were made by women at the close of the tea indicating that many of Arcadia's newcomers are availing themselves of the social and cultural life to be found in the Arcadia club.

The reconditioned interior of the pleasant clubhouse was glowing in its freshness. The women seemed to respond to the coming season with renewed interest and enthusiasm after more than two years of partial club activities in the clubhouse which was placed at the disposal of the U. S. O.

The club will continue to hold but one regular monthly meeting for the duration, since women are still greatly needed in Red Cross and other war work.

Woman's Club Begins Fall Meetings, Year Books With Schedules Given Out

Arcadia's pleasant, little, Spanish-style woman's clubhouse set off by its spacious green lawns, was filled to capacity Wednesday at the first regular fall meeting of the club. Many of the women and their guests assembled a half hour before the 11:30 luncheon hour to visit, pay their dues, and receive the attractive year books announcing the monthly meetings, programs, and the many sections and departments which will provide a variety of side study for members this year.

During the luncheon hour presided over by the president, Mrs. Harry Russell, past presidents seated at the head table with the executive board, were introduced and included Mrs. Nellie White, Mrs. William Lewis, Mrs. Charles Stewart, Mrs. G. G. Meade, Mrs. J. A. Stoker and Mrs. Wood Glover.

Executive Board

The executive board members were Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. C. F. Ganther, Mrs. L. L. Casper, Mrs. Earl Dettra, Mrs. Ray Young, Mrs. Edgar Reid, Mrs. E. J. Frentress, Mrs. Ernest Leeper, and Mrs. George Leitz.

After a brief welcome from the president, Mrs. Clarke Breeze, Bible chairman, gave a fascinating portrayal of the life of Vashti, the queen, as told in the book of Esther in the Old Testament. This was the first of series of reviews of women of the Bible that Mrs. Breeze will give during the club year.

Alice McIntire

The afternoon program was given by Alice McIntire, monodramatist, accompanied by Grace Reed, pianist-composer. The work of both artists was excellent.

During the business session, the club women heard the appeal made by Charles E. Gibson in behalf of the Disabled American Veterans, and voted a substantial sum to the cause.

Other business included the announcement of section meetings and Red Cross work days. The names of 22 new members were read. Mrs. C. F. Van Ausdol supervised the attractive decorations of the club room. Luncheon hostesses were Mrs. H. S. Price and Mrs. George Hart.

Club Briefs

Women of the club and community are asked to begin now to collect odds and ends and what-nots that their tastes and needs have outgrown, and put them aside for the January rummage sale.

Mrs. Kenneth Leslie announces plenty of recreation for the first of the "Third Wednesday Fun Meeting" in the clubhouse, Oct. 18. You need not be a club member to call Mrs. Leslie, Atwater 7-1941, and tell her you will be there. It is a benefit that calls for 50 cents.

Red Cross

Mrs. Edward Kaurin asks women to come to the clubhouse on Thursday, Oct. 12, at 10 a. m. to sew for the Red Cross. "Bring your own sandwiches and sewing kits, there is much to be done," she says.

The Garden Section meets on Wednesday, Oct. 11. Flower arrangements by all who bring flowers and a study of what it takes to be proficient in this art, will provide the theme of the meeting. Mrs. Harvey Moss can tell the particulars of hours and place. Telephone her at Atwater 7-3887.

Club women should remember to make their club luncheon reservations three days before club day. They should also remember to pay their dues early in the year. All treasurers advise it. Bess Reid is no exception.

Any woman who wishes to join the Arcadia Woman's Club may apply for membership blanks. Mrs. Raymond Kennett can supply them so long as they last. At the rate women are joining the club, a second printing of application blanks may be needed. Of course, women must be recommended by two club members. Many newcomers seek the club for the cultural and social meetings. Occasionally, there will be evening affairs to which husbands will be invited.

Guests were seated at one long table centered with red rose buds arranged with sprays of asparagus ferns. The hostesses welcomed their guests and expressed a hope that the group would form a strong active factor in the success of the club year, by keeping in touch with the federation work and reporting vital messages to stimulate club interest in the many federation departments.

Mrs. Eugene Harpole, chairman of the literature section introduced this year, announced that the section would meet each fourth Thursday morning in the clubhouse.

Club Briefs

Legislature chairman for the Arcadia Woman's Club this year is Mrs. Arthur Brandes. With her usual vital interest in the subjects which she is expected to cover, she is now urging clubwomen to exercise their high privilege of taking part in the affairs of government by voting intelligently on the issues to be found on the fall ballot. She has arranged for a concise, unbiased interpretation of each issue to be given during the luncheon hour of the club day Nov. 1 by attorney Ardene Boller.

A brief snappy community sing will precede each club luncheon, according to Mrs. Russell. The order of the day for each meeting is: come early, pick up luncheon tickets, and visit with other members, especially newcomers and guests assembled in the reception room. Luncheon hour is 11:30.

Mrs. Kenneth Leslie promises a big time for everybody beginning with a salad luncheon at 11:30. This is the big opportunity offered by the club for the women of Arcadia to get well acquainted with one another.

The Dec. 20 meeting plans are shrouded in mystery but it promises to be an agreeable surprise for the Drama and Music sections have combined talent for a Christmas program of merit as well as some laughs. Incidentally the small fee charges each time takes care of the club budget during the year.

Now that the comfortable clubhouse is available to the public for parties, dinners, concerts, and organization meetings, the executive board of the Woman's Club, assures their renters every courtesy and consideration in making it attractive for all or any of the rooms to be used at any time available. Mrs. Caroline Ganther at AT. 7-2307, is the person to consult for rentals.

The clubhouse was used exclusively during the past two years for the U.S.O.

A fine Christmas program is in store for clubwomen on the Dec. 6 meeting date. There will be important guests at the luncheon and an appropriate program in tune with the Christmas theme. All luncheon reservations must be made in advance. This rule becomes more imperative with the increased membership.

Woman's Club Gives Comedy Play, Sings Carols, to Celebrate Yuletide

Christmas was celebrated at the Woman's Clubhouse, Wednesday, Dec. 20, in a manner that will long be remembered as an outstanding event, by club members and their guests.

Comedy and sentiment went hand-in-hand throughout the day, with the Christmas play, "Bang Goes Christmas," providing the comedy, and the Christmas carollers, in choir robes and carrying lighted tapers, emphasizing the spiritual significance of the Christmas season.

Plum pudding and coffee were served in the soft glow of candlelight, and friends enjoyed a social hour before the presentation of the play. "Bang Goes Christmas," a comedy in one act, directed by Margaret Talcott, assisted by Helen Lumpkin, was an outstanding amateur performance.
